New Glass Design & Creation

Franklin Art Glass offers unique and customized designs to create special iconography for any subject matter, structure, setting, or religious denomination. We have designed and executed work for all denominations of faith; from Roman Catholic churches to synagogues and everything in between.

Our goal is to design and fabricate works of art that will enhance worship in any structure of any faith.

At Franklin Art Glass Studios we utilize traditional and modern design techniques to help bring your stained glass visions to life. From traditional hand-painted and fired scenes to innovative and contemporary designs, we have the skill and knowledge to create a timeless piece of art work for your space. We work with each client, architect, or church representative on a personal level for a successful project that is on schedule and within budget.

Family Tradition

Franklin Art Glass Studios has been a family owned and operated studio since its inception in 1924. Rooted in four generations of family ownership and leadership, Franklin Art Glass will be here to serve your art glass needs for decades to come.

Protective Glazing & Storm Glass

Protective glazing, or storm glass, is one of the best ways to protect stained leaded glass windows from the risk of breakage due to vandalism or severe weather conditions.

Cumulative damage from precipitation, sunlight, and temperature fluctuations can be reduced by a properly installed and properly vented protective glazing system. Protective glazing should never distract from the stained glass on the interior or look unattractive from the exterior. Glazing systems by Franklin Art Glass Studios are custom-designed to be as subtle as possible.

Franklin offers nationwide service with craftsmen who are skilled at on-site preservation. For large scale projects we also have a dedicated in-studio restoration department that can bring new life to any project. We are well versed in identifying the various degrees of deterioration in stained and leaded glass. It is part of our philosophy to educate our clients so that they are able to make an informed decision regarding the repair and restoration of their stained glass.
